

Why Risk & Regulatory Consulting?

With one call or e-mail to Risk & Regulatory Consulting (RRC), you have access to specialists in every facet of insurance company regulation. Our highly skilled and qualified team includes many former insurance regulators who understand the obligations of the insurance regulator.

An unexpected material change in reserves, a previously undisclosed problem, or a catastrophic event may develop into a troubled or insolvent company situation with little or no warning to the regulator. The issues that surface in a troubled or insolvent company situation are often quite different than those identified through the financial analysis or examination process. RRC is ready to provide the expert resources needed to assist state insurance regulators with the resolution of a troubled company situation or a receivership.

We collaborate with our clients to identify the best option in order to ensure consumers will be protected in a timely manner.

Our team offers comprehensive services for troubled company resolution or the administration of a receivership.

We understand the framework of insurance regulation.

We are a national practice with local resources.
